"I was induced with my first son when I was 14 days overdue, which happened to be a Saturday night," she says.