west's advice, I had no more palpitations.

Once you have an oil of choice or make your own oil blend, you can use it just as you would a face moisturizer—so likely day and night.

Something else to consider: is any really novel research presented at most conferences these days? Much of what you hear about can be gleaned from people's web pages and papers.